Kelly,

I just sent you the draft summary presentation for your review. Regarding my note from last night, I confirmed that the calculations were done correctly and there wasn't a problem with the depictions in the presentation.

Thanks,
Alex

Kelly,

I was about to send you a summary presentation with the material we discussed during our recent call, but I noticed a discrepancy in the implementation of the substitute UCL, when dealing with non-detects. Although this shouldn't impact the visuals I previously shared with you or those additional slides I was going to send you, I am checking the calculations to make sure they are consistent across the board. I will update everything and I will share the presentation hopefully in a day or so.

Apologies for the delay.

Alex
